

Robert R. Linton Address

“Toward a Modern Understanding of Vascular Disease: From Futility to Promise”

*Friday, September 22, 2006, 4:00pm
Essex Center Ballroom, Westin Copley Place*

Daniel Levy, M.D. is Director of the Framingham Heart Study in Framingham, Massachusetts. Dr. Levy is a fellow of the American College of Cardiology and an active member of the American Heart Association (AHA) Clinical Council on Cardiology, the AHA Council on Hypertension, and the American Society of Hypertension. In addition, Dr. Levy serves on the American College of Cardiology Committee on Hypertensive diseases and the National Cholesterol Education Program’s Adult Treatment Panel III (ATP III). He was a member of the Writing Committee for JNC VI.

Daniel Levy, M.D.

Dr Levy has dual faculty appointments at Harvard Medical School and Boston University School of Medicine. Dr. Levy has published more than 200 articles in leading cardiovascular and scientific journals as well as a book on the Framingham Heart Study. He serves as a reviewer for numerous medical journals, including Circulation, New England Journal of Medicine, Lancet and JAMA. Additionally, he serves on the editorial boards of JACC, Hypertension, Journal of Hypertension, and The American Journal of Medicine.

Dr. Levy has been the recipient of many awards and honors, including the National Institutes of Health Director’s Award given for his research achievements at the Framingham Heart Study. His main areas of research interest include the epidemiology of hypertension, the epidemiology of left ventricular hypertrophy, the epidemiology of heart failure, the prevention of coronary heart disease, and the diagnosis and treatment of lipid disorders.

Autographed copies of Dr. Levy’s book, “Change of Heart”, will be available for sale at cost to registered attendees.